

Funeral Services Held For Wallace Lunt

Wallace Hunter Lunt, 49, prominent Cedar City farmer and sheep breeder, died unexpectedly last Saturday morning, April 27, in the operating room of the Iron County Hospital where he was undergoing a thyroid operation.

The deceased was born in Cedar City on July 14, 1891, a son of the late Henry W. and Rose Hunter Lunt, and has lived here all of his life. He was married to Winnifred Leigh in the Salt Lake L. D. S. Temple on November 23, 1916.

He was a life-long worker in the L. D. S. Church, having held numerous positions of leadership in his ward and in organizations of the Parowan Stake. At the time of his death he was senior president of the 63rd Quorum of Seventy of the Parowan L. D. S. Stake.

He is survived by his widow, mother, two sons and a daughter, Leo and Douglas Lunt of Cedar City and Miss Helen Lunt, student at Brigham Young University and nine brothers and sisters: Henry H., Raymond H., and Willard Lunt of Cedar City; George H. Lunt, Mrs. Elmer T. Ashton and Mrs. J. T. Harrington of Salt Lake City; Anthony H. Lunt of Lincoln, Nebr.; Mrs. J. M. Pond of Portland, Ore.; and Mrs. Gerald Smith of Arlington Va.

An exceptionally large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral services which were held Tuesday afternoon in the Cedar First Ward Chapel with Bishop George W. Grimshaw presiding.

The opening song was sung by a ladies' double trio composed of Mrs. Annette Betensen, Mrs. Ann Gardner, Miss Mamie Gardner, Mrs. Elda Manning, Mrs. Miriam Luke and Mrs. Maude Halversen, accompanied by Mrs. Bernella Jones.

The opening prayer was offered by Bishop Samuel F. Leigh of the Third Ward.

The first speaker was Arthur Jones, whose talk was followed by a vocal solo, "I Am A Pilgrim," by Myles Walker, accompanied by Mrs. Beth Leigh.

The second speaker was Frank B. Wood. A violin duet by Miss Elma Corry and Roy L. Halversen, accompanied by Miss Inez Corry was the next number.

Dr. J. W. Bergstrom was the next speaker, being followed by Wilford Day of Parowan.

Following concluding remarks by Bishop Grimshaw, the double trio sang, "Father Take My Hand."

Benediction was offered by Bryan J. Petty and the grave was dedicated by E. M. Corry.
